A Goose Story An Egg Report An Interest Bill

Editor The Star: This probably falls under the "Believe It or Not" category. Like the editor, the vicar also keeps geese on his "Back 40," rather more for the amusement of his wife and neighbors than as an ornithological exercise.

The nest accumulated eight handsome eggs before his bitch English Bull discovered them as a delicacy. In the midst of much flapping, hissing, and pinching she ate them all in one sitting, swallowing many of them whole.

The lady of the house says that we are to have goslings next year whether the bulldog lives or not!

WILLIAM RISINGER, JR.
Vicar

March 21, 1972
St. Mark's Episcopal Church
City

My condolences to the churchman. In my own "Back 40" the Canada Geese's nest now discloses seven eggs. The reason I know about this is that Gene Allen of The Star and your editor made our third unsuccessful attempt Wednesday to lure the four young geese of 1971 into the walk-in quail cage which contains the feed trough, hoping to trap them long enough to clip their flight feathers and end the nuisance of having to look for them in various parts of Hope. The old pair are bone-clipped, but the youngsters are free to fly—except one whose flight feathers Gene trimmed when he caught him out of bounds earlier this week.

In the course of our monkeying around the quail cage Wednesday we looked in on the old pair and an angry hen raised up just enough for us to count seven eggs.

I, too, have a dog—a big boxer—and the only reason my eggs aren't in danger is that the back yard, which is the dog's domicile, is separated from the "Back 40," the geese's domain, by a stout fence. Sometimes I am tempted to educate my dog by turning him loose on the Canadians. It is my conviction that any angry Canadian gander can whip the biggest dog alive. But the risk is too great, and temptation is carefully put away.

I had a memorandum on my desk but it got away—and I note that Louis Graves, Nashville News editor, latched onto the same item and published it.

The item: The interest on the federal debt now amounts to 21.2 billion dollars annually. If you don't grasp this stupendous figure I can help you with a comparison. Today's 21.1 billion interest compares with debt principal of only 26 billion at the end of World War I.

It's just possible that one of these days we will catch the federal government trying to sell additional bond principal in order to keep up the interest payments on what it has already borrowed.

Which would amount to bankruptcy.

Mixed Reaction to Board's Marijuana Recommendations

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
The recommendation by a national commission to abolish criminal penalties for private use of marijuana has drawn mixed reaction among both the nation's youth and law enforcement officials.

Some officials gave qualified support to the idea, but others branded recommendations by the National Commission on Marijuana and Drug Abuse as impractical and even dangerous.

Harry J. Anslinger, U.S. commissioner of Narcotics from 1930 to 1962, said the commission's recommendations could have "very serious national repercussions" and he called the findings "terrifying."

But Walter Richter, director of the Texas Program on Drug Abuse, said the group's report was "a very sane and humane and reasonable approach" that would free law enforcers to deal with the problem of hard drugs.

"I would be the last one to recommend anyone get involved with pot, but I think this helps put it in perspective," he said.

The 13-member commission, at the end of a year's study, urged Wednesday that the government end prosecution of marijuana users but continue jail terms and fines for growing or selling pot.

President Nixon, who appointed nine members of the commission, received the report without comment.

San Francisco Undersheriff Reuben Greenberg said he "agrees completely" with that recommendation, "We think the use of marijuana should be restricted, but not made illegal, the same way alcohol is."

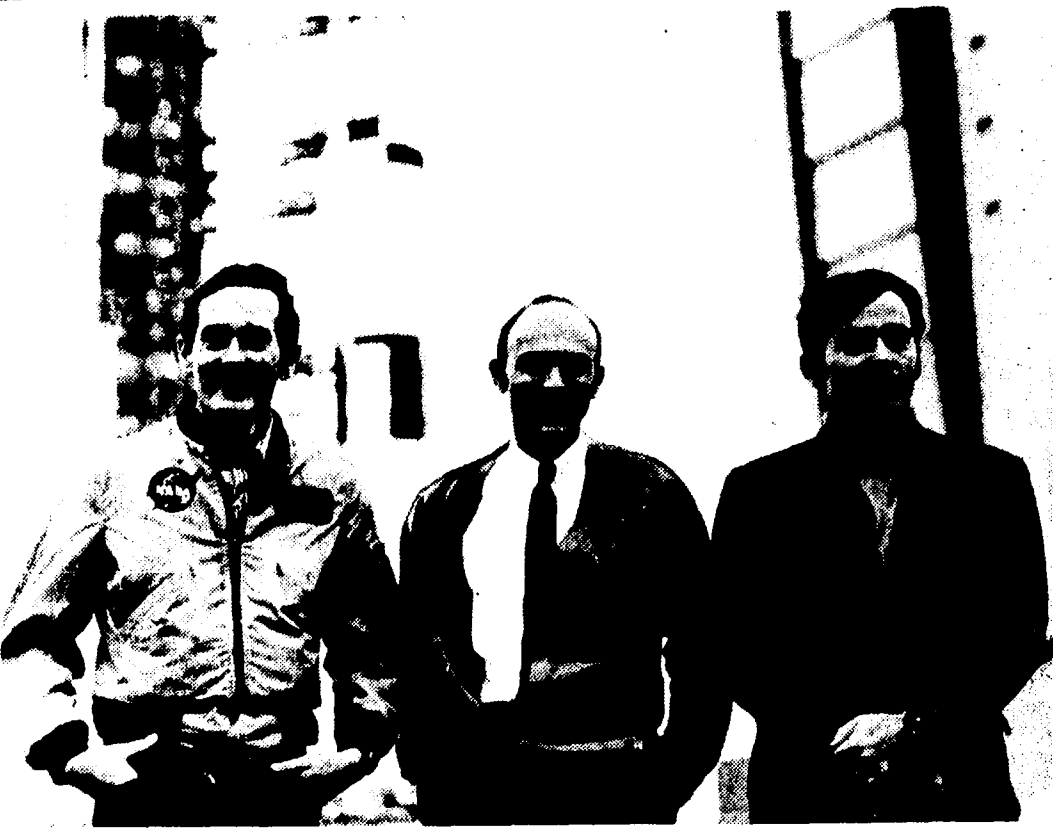

But the proposal not to prosecute marijuana users and not to legalize it either was, in the opinion of Alabama Public Safety Director W. L. Allen, like "trying to follow the line of being just a little pregnant."

He said he opposed the report. Anslinger, who spearheaded passage of the federal Marijuana Tax Act in 1937, said liberalization of the law would cause the number of heroin users in the country to "mushroom."

"If these recommendations go through, allowing smoking in secret without any penalty, then I think in a couple of years we'll have about a million lunatics filling up the mental hospitals and a couple of hundred thousand more deaths on the highways—just plain slaughter on the highways," he said.

Opinions also were divided on college campuses and among others of the nation's youth.

Resignations Make Controls a Major Political Issue

WASHINGTON (AP) — An exchange of bitter charges between the White House and three resigning AFL-CIO members of President Nixon's Pay Board appears to have thrust the administration's wage-price controls into the political arena as a major election issue.

"It is the President's view that a few labor leaders representing a small percentage of the 80 million wage-earners in this country will not be allowed to sabotage the fight against inflation and the fight against higher prices," said White House Press Secretary Ronald L. Ziegler.

"In the guise of an anti-inflation policy, the American people are being gouged at the supermarket and squeezed in the paycheck," said AFL-CIO President George Meany.

Meany, President I. W. Abel of the AFL-CIO United Steelworkers and President Floyd Smith of the AFL-CIO International Association of Machinists started the fight by quitting the Pay Board in a body with the accusation that Nixon's controls are loaded in favor of big business and against workers and unions.

Meany said politics played no part in the decision by the executive council of the 13.6-million-member labor federation to pull its representatives off the Pay Board.

But the AFL-CIO's political strategists have been gearing up for months for an expected all-out effort to defeat Nixon in his re-election bid next November.

The AFL-CIO resignations left only two labor representatives on the 15-member board, Teamsters President Frank E. Fitzsimmons who said he will continue serving on the board and United Auto Workers President Leonard Woodcock who withheld announcing any decision. Woodcock is believed reluctant to quit the board on the theory that he can better protect his union's contracts by remaining.

Backed by a unanimous vote of the 28 members of his executive council who attended Wednesday's meeting, Meany denounced Nixon's controls. Seven council members were absent.

He noted that a wide range of consumer prices, including raw fruits and vegetables, interest rates, life-insurance premiums, used cars and homes, are exempt from price controls.

"The administration's so-called new economic policy is heavily loaded against the worker and consumer in favor of the profits of big business and the banks and is dominated by the view that economic progress begins and ends in the stock market and the corporate financial report."

"Millions of American workers remain unemployed, their wages frozen at zero, with no real prospect of relief," Meany said. "We will not be a part of the window-dressing for this system of unfair and equitable government control of wages, for the benefit of business profits."

No Politics Involved, Says Rowe

J.W. Rowe, president of the Hope Chamber of Commerce, said Wednesday that David Pryor, who is congressman of the district that includes Hope, was invited last October 5 to speak to the Chamber at its annual dinner meeting scheduled for Thursday night.

Rowe said that was more than four months before Pryor announced his candidacy for the U.S. Senate.

"This is not a political affair," said Rowe.

In an editorial Wednesday Publisher A.H. Washburn criticized the Chamber of Commerce for inviting Rep. Pryor to speak at such a meeting.

"We are compelled to ask when and how the Chamber proposes to give equal treatment to Sen. John L. McClellan and Ted Boswell," Washburn wrote. Both are opponents of Pryor in the Senate race.

2 Americans Killed in War

SAIGON (AP) — Two Americans were killed in action and 12 were wounded in Indochina last week, the U.S. Command announced today. It was the lowest weekly casualty toll in four months.

South Vietnamese casualties were higher than the weekly average, however, with 357 government troops killed and 943 wounded. Another 20 men were reported missing in action.

The average of South Vietnamese casualties last year was 256 killed and 713 wounded. The U.S. Command also reported one American died from nonhostile causes.

Speeches in Braille

ATLANTA, Ga. (AP) — Pat Nixon will push a computer button Friday in Atlanta and 18 seconds later will have a copy—in braille—of banquet speeches made last month by the President and Chinese Premier Chou En-lai.

Four years ago, it would have taken three hours to produce a single copy. A century ago, it would have been punched by hand using a slate and stylus, a day-long task.

Mrs. Nixon, who will be in Atlanta for a national Republican women's conference, will tour the data processing division of the Atlanta public schools, the only completely automated system for preparing braille textbooks in the United States.

Biggest Jump in Food Prices in 14 Years Ups Cost of Living

By NEIL GILBRIDE
AP Labor Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — The biggest jump in grocery prices in 14 years last month triggered the sharpest rise in overall living costs since before President Nixon imposed economic controls, the government reported today.

The Consumer Price Index, measuring typical family living costs, rose five-tenths of one per cent in February, the largest increase in nine months, the Labor Department's Bureau of Labor Statistics said.

Grocery prices, which include a number of items that are not subject to federal price controls, soared 1.9 per cent for the greatest one-month increase since March of 1958, the report said.

The report followed the resignation of three AFL-CIO members of Nixon's Pay Board, who charged the government was rigidly holding down wages while letting prices continue to climb.

The bureau also reported that average weekly earnings of some 45 million rank-and-file workers rose 35 cents a week to $130.27, but that purchasing power declined 24 cents because of the rise in consumer prices.

The February boost pushed the price index up to 123.8 per cent of its 1967 average. This means it cost $12.38 last month for every $10 worth of typical family purchases five years ago.

The February increase was the greatest since a six-tenths of one per cent rise last June, two months before Nixon imposed a 90-day wage-price freeze which was then followed by Phase 2 controls.

The bureau said that, so far in the four months of Phase 2, living costs have risen at an annual rate of 4.9 per cent greater than the 4.1 per cent rate in the six months before Nixon's August economic freeze.

Prices had been held to an annual rate of 1.7 per cent during the rigid three-month freeze that preceded the looser Phase 2 controls.

Equal Rights for Women Approved by Senate Vote

WASHINGTON (AP) — Ending four decades of reluctance and indecision, Congress has approved a proposed constitutional amendment designed to provide equal rights for women.

The 84-8 Senate vote Wednesday that completed congressional action on the proposal brought shouts of joy and a spirited champagne party by supporters.

But Sen. Sam Ervin, D-N.C., who lost 10 attempts to modify the amendment, said: "You are crucifying women on a cross of equality...Forgive them, Father, they know not what they do."

To take effect, the amendment must be ratified by legislatures of 38 states within seven years. It would become effective two years after ratification.

Hawaii, acting an hour after the Senate vote, became the first state to ratify.

"It finally happened," said Rep. Bella Abzug, D-N.Y.

"I don't believe this amendment will have the effect of creating identical human beings. I do believe it will create identical legal rights," said Sen. Birch Bayh, D-Ind., floor manager of the amendment.

Ervin, who doggedly led a small band of senators against the amendment in four days of debate, argued that laws discriminating against women should be changed at the state level, not by constitutional amendment.

Proponents of the amendment said that would be too slow.

Ervin sought to have the amendment modified to preserve laws requiring fathers to support their children, to keep women out of the draft, and out of combat, but he lost each test.

The military issue carried much of the debate, with Sen. John Stennis, D-Miss., chairman of the Senate Armed Services Committee, floating images of women in combat boots, toting M16s "and being made prisoners in the jungles."

However, Bayh predicted that only a small number of women would ever be assigned to combat units.

He also predicted the measure would have little effect on support payments because "most fathers have the primary responsibility of supporting their children, not because they are fathers, not because they are men, but because they are the primary source of income for their families."

Reds Hit Mekong Delta Area

By GEORGE ESPER
Associated Press Writer

SAIGON (AP) — Communist forces slashed into a district town in the Mekong Delta on Wednesday firing automatic weapons and rocket grenades and killed 19 of the local militiamen and police and nine of their wives and children.

Another 29 of the defenders were wounded in the attack on Truc Giang, 50 miles southwest of Saigon. The assault force destroyed the police headquarters and a housing complex for the families of the defenders and heavily damaged the district headquarters, the Saigon command said.

Spokesmen said the enemy left nine dead behind, and one man was captured, along with a B40 rocket grenade launcher and four AK47 assault rifles.

Communist forces also attacked the command post of a

South Vietnamese armored cavalry regiment in southern Cambodia early today, shelled the main South Vietnamese base for the current operations in eastern Cambodia and fired 261 rockets and mortar rounds at five government positions along the demilitarized zone and farther south near Hue.

Twenty-nine rockets hit the big Tay Ninh West base camp 60 miles northwest of Saigon in two barrages late Wednesday, killing seven persons, wounding seven and destroying more than 100,000 gallons of fuel. The dead included four children who were hit when some of the 100-pound missiles overshot the base and landed in a residential area.

It was the second attack on the base in as many days. Communist sappers invaded it Tuesday, killing 13 South Vietnamese troops and wounding 14.

Comes to Defense of Sexy Chaplain

JACKSONVILLE, Fla. (AP) — Navy wives, fellow clergymen and friends have come to the defense of Chaplain Andrew F. Jensen, who is accused of having illicit sexual relations with two women.

"I feel the chaplain's innocent," a sobbing Margaret Huntsinger said in testimony Wednesday at Jensen's court-martial.

"I feel it's my Christian duty to help a fellow Christian," said Isabell Jaquette, a Sunday school teacher at Jensen's chapel.

In addition to testimony praising the moral character of Cmdr. Jensen, defense witnesses Wednesday criticized one of the two women who filed complaints against the 43-year-old American Baptist chaplain. Jensen is charged with conduct unbecoming an officer.

Mrs. Huntsinger, whose husband serves at Cecil Field Naval Air Station with Jensen, said she worked on a chapel planning board with Lora Gudbranson, a 40-year-old supply officer's wife who testified that she had sexual relations with the chaplain four times last year.

"On several occasions I had the feeling he was trying to get away, but she wouldn't let him. She had a way of sort of getting everyone to move out so she could monopolize the conversation with him," Mrs. Huntsinger testified.

Jack R. Blackmon of Corpus Christi, Tex., Jensen's civilian defense attorney, brought 14 character witnesses before the six-man court after the prosecution wound up its case with testimony from only Mrs. Gudbranson and Mary Ann Curran.

Mrs. Curran, a pretty 24-year-old nurse and the wife of a Navy pilot, testified Tuesday that she had intercourse with Jensen on 17 occasions after her husband hired him as a marriage counselor.

Housing for Truly Poor

FRESNO, Calif. (AP) — The Office of Economic Opportunity will attempt to design housing that the "truly poor" can afford, Director Philip V. Sanchez says.

OEO is beginning work on a $4 million experimental design program "to find out if it's possible to construct a low-income home on a massive scale," Sanchez told newsmen Wednesday. Later contractors will bid on constructing sample units.

The anti-poverty agency hopes to lower the cost of some aspects of home-building "through introduction of new materials that still meet code standards," Sanchez said.

The OEO chief, here for a meeting with his 10 regional directors, charged that current low income housing is too expensive to "reach the truly poor person."

Better to Miss Bus If You Are in Moscow

By LEWIS GULICK Associated Press Writer WASHINGTON (AP) — If you're a U.S. Navy officer, it's better to miss the bus in Leningrad than to catch the wrong bus—especially if it is run by the Soviet Army.

This moral springs from a fresh diplomatic incident which, it was learned, the State Department is about to acknowledge publicly.

According to Washington's version of the wrong-bus affair: Cmdr. William H. J. Manthorpe and Lt. Cmdr. Steve S. Kime, naval attaches with the American embassy in Moscow, finished a sightseeing outing in Leningrad March 14 and headed for the railroad station.

So they hopped on a bus—an unmarked bus. They soon discovered they were riding a military bus, got off and started walking toward the station.

But on the way, they were apprehended by a Soviet army officer who took them to a nearby military hotel. The Russian Army men there seemed unpersuaded when the attaches produced their diplomatic identification, which is supposed to let them go free in such cases.

The Soviets searched the pair, took away their belongings, and held them for an hour and a half before returning their things and letting them go on to the station.

Back in Moscow, the American embassy went through the usual protest routine and got the usual response. A senior U.S. diplomat complained orally to the Soviet foreign ministry, which said it would look into the matter. A senior military attache protested to the defense ministry, which said nothing at all.

In Washington, the incident has raised no ire comparable to that of cold-war days. Getting together is the main theme with the Soviets now.

A State Department official was asked when was the last such instance of Soviet mishandling of a U.S. military attache.

"Not since last January," he said. That was Jan. 5 when Air Force Capt. Elmer L. Alderfer was set upon by a half-dozen or more men in plain clothes at Riga Airport.

Landowners Protest Buffalo River Park

HARRISON, Ark. (AP) — Herb Van Deven of Harrison said Wednesday that owners of 14,105 acres of land needed for the Buffalo National Scenic River Park had pledged to "stand together and refuse to sell their property to the government."

Van Deven, a school teacher and leader of the landowners, said they had pledged to fight the "forced sale" of the land.

"We're going to try to tie down 60,000 acres," he said. This represents about two-thirds of the acreage the national river proposal calls for.

He said the group, under sponsorship of the Buffalo River Conservation and Recreation Council, would attempt a court challenge on two points:

—That the amount charged by the government to allow the landowner to remain on the land should not be deducted from the original government payment for the land, but should be collected monthly or yearly.

—That in a conflict of interest between the freedom to enjoy recreation and the freedom to own property, property ownership should be the overriding interest.

City Pays for Mayor's Store

NORTH LITTLE ROCK (AP) — The city of North Little Rock paid Mrs. Lois H. Bryan, former manager of Mayor W.F. Laman's furniture store here, nearly $6,000 in 1970 and 1971 for interior decorating services, the Arkansas Democrat reported Wednesday.

The mayor's store closed last October.

The city's Finance Department records did not show any purchases made from the mayor's store other than Mrs. Bryan's services, the newspaper said.

"The city hasn't paid me a dime," Mrs. Bryan said.

When told of financial records that showed payments made to her, she said the payments had been made to her as reimbursements for "odds and ends of stuff" that she ordered for city buildings from out of town.

She said she used her "buying power" as an interior decorator to buy articles from such places as New York and Dallas to "save the city some money."

Mrs. Bryan's husband, Charles Bryan, is the city's purchasing agent.

Memphis Bus Burial

MEMPHIS, Tenn. (AP) — An old school bus was buried Wednesday as a federal judge posted security measures aimed at forestalling courtroom demonstrations Tuesday when he opens a hearing on the Memphis school desegregation suit.

The Memphis unit of Citizens Against Busing staged the bus burial in a vacant lot. The ceremony drew about 600 adults and up to 400 youngsters.

Meanwhile, Judge Robert McRae of U.S. District Court made public a set of strict security measures that will be in force when he begins a hearing Tuesday into further desegregation of Memphis schools, the nation's 10th largest system.

McRae said no more people will be admitted in his 11th floor courtroom than can comfortably be seated. The 10 benches in the room will hold about 120 persons.

Except for lawyers, school officials and witnesses, nobody with a briefcase or carrying case will be allowed in the courtroom.

McRae said U.S. Marshal George Tallent has been asked to provide deputy marshals to guard the 11th floor. He said General Services Administration guards will patrol other parts of the building and will inspect briefcases and packages at each entrance to the building.

No cameras or recording devices will be allowed in the courtroom.

ELDORADO, Ark. (AP) — Jack Coleman, a declared candidate for Congress from the 4th District, said Wednesday night his staff was conducting a survey to determine the "true feeling" of the people in South Arkansas on the Gillham Dam and Dorchester Bayou projects.

Coleman said he believed a balance could be obtained between conservationists, farmers and industry on the controversy.

Clouds drifted into North Arkansas during the night. The forecast calls for considerable cloudiness over the state tonight and Friday with lows tonight in the low 40s to low 50s and highs Friday in the upper 60s to mid 70s.

Broyles Greet 110 Hogs

FAYETTEVILLE, Ark. (AP) — Arkansas Coach Frank Broyles greeted about 120 candidates for the Razorback football team Wednesday, the first day of spring practice, and said, "We've got a lot to do."

"Today was satisfactory—that's about all you could say," said Broyles, who is beginning his 15th spring at Arkansas.

The Razorbacks concentrated mostly on agility drills and sprints.

Quarterback Joe Ferguson said he was worried about being a little slow.

"I felt clumsy, especially with the shoulder pads," he said. "And the grass is really slow and dusty. I'm ready for the AstroTurf."

However, Ferguson said he felt good about the first day's progress.

Ferguson, who suffered an injured shoulder in the SMU game last year, put it to the test on the first day.

He said he hit a blocking dummy and "the shoulder didn't bother me. Everything is all right now."

Defensive tackle Archie Bennett and fullback Jim Fryer were the only Razorbacks to miss the workout. Bennett, who was shot in the stomach about two weeks ago, was at the practice field but will not participate in spring drills. Fryer is trying to get his knee in shape.

"It's really hard to tell anything on the first day," Broyles said. "We are trying to work everybody and some are still unsure of their assignments. It's hard to evaluate, but it's about what you'd expect."

Arkansas plans a scrimmage Saturday.

St. John's Loses Big Man

By BRUCE LOWITT
Associated Press Sports Writer
NEW YORK (AP) — The last time St. John's met Niagara, the Redmen rallied from a 16-point deficit for a 93-90 victory—but that was when they had a healthy Mel Davis.

Tonight, though, Davis lies in a hospital room, depriving his teammates of their top scorer and rebounder as they seek a shot at their fifth National Invitation Tournament basketball championship.

St. John's Coach Frank Mulzoff was succinct as he considered playing the Purple Eagles in tonight's semifinal without his 6-foot-7 center. "It'll be like hell on earth for us."

The opener of the double-header at Madison Square Garden will have an abundance of big men—Jacksonville's 7-foot center Dave Brent and Maryland's 6-9 pivotman Len Elmore and 6-11 forward Tom McMillen.

Maryland Coach Lefty Driesell believes the championship will be decided by defense "and we are playing very well on defense now. This is our strong suit. McMillen and Elmore have played very well here."

But Jacksonville Coach Tom Wasdin sees things just a bit differently. "The key to this game," he says, "is whether our rebounding holds up and how well our quickness goes against their inside speed."

The Dolphins have an injury problem of their own—scoring leader Ernie Fleming's sprained ankle.

There's no way that Davis can play for St. John's—but if Greg Cluess fills in for him the way he did against Oral Roberts, Davis' absence won't be felt quite so severely.

Davis was brilliant during his 14 minutes, scoring 12 points and grabbing 12 rebounds. But as he drove in for what ended up being his final basket of the game—and probably his final one in the tourney—his knee buckled.

He crashed to the floor writhing in pain so bad he cried. What a few minutes earlier had been just a cramp in his right knee was now a torn tendon. They took him off on a stretcher.

But on came Cluess, a 6-11 reserve who poured in 27 points and hauled in 21 rebounds as the Redmen fought off an Oral Roberts rally to win 94-78.

Rule Changes Are Studied

By MIKE RATHER
Associated Press Sports Writer
HONOLULU (AP) — The National Football League will tackle the problem of rule change proposals today—and one of the people sitting on the edge of his chair is a guy who just recently was spinning on the rim of the moon as the pilot of the Apollo 12 command module.

Despite the fact that he's back on earth now as executive vice president of the New Orleans Saints, Dick Gordon feels he has a different perspective than many of the National Football League executives who are concerned with the possibility that defense has gained the edge over offense.

"I can reflect on some of these rule proposals differently than others in the game—some of them are so close it's like the guy who can't see the forest for the trees," Gordon explained.

As a fan he finds a certain intrigue in the rules. He's studied many of the proposed changes. He's not so sure that the offense needs help.

"People say the defense is so dominant, and maybe defenses have become better," Gordon said. "But maybe the best way to combat that is by offensive innovation. The only fact we have to work with is that there have been less points scored. I question the conclusions drawn from that. Maybe there are other reasons."

It should be noted, however, that Commissioner Pete Rozelle said at the meetings began that he considered the dropoff in scoring one of the "trouble spots" facing the sport and preferred to "stop a trend before it becomes dangerous."

There seems to be significant sentiment for change of some kind to redress the shift that has taken place during the last three years with 100 fewer touchdowns scored last season than in 1969.

Murphy Long Overdue

By BOB GREEN
Associated Press Golf Writer
NEW ORLEANS (AP) — "This is getting pretty damned exasperating," red-haired Bob Murphy said.

"Maybe this week. Why not? It's about time. Or past time. I'm overdue."

And that he is.

"I've been in position to win six times already this year and I just can't bring it off. It's enough to drive you around the bend," the chunky, 29-year-old Murphy said today before starting out in his first round in the $125,000 Greater New Orleans Open Golf Tournament.

He's one of the favorites—along with Jack Nicklaus, South African Gary Player and defending title-holder Frank Beard—for the $25,000 first prize in this 72 hole chase on the 7,080 yard, par 72 Lakewood Country Club course.

And if his putter holds up, Murphy very well could be THE favorite.

"It's all putting," said Murphy, a stocky, cigar-chomping guy now in his fifth year on the tour.

Murphy hasn't won this year, but has probably the most solid record on the tour. In 10 starts he's finished ninth or better seven times, six times sixth or

Hempens Song Head Field

HOT SPRINGS, Ark. (AP)—Dan Lasater's speedy filly, Hempens Song, never worse than second in nine career starts, headed a field of nine fillies and mares in today's $17,500 feature race at Oaklawn Park.

Hempens Song will carry 113 pounds in the six-furlong allowance event.

Among those trying to catch the fleet filly were Idle Lady (117) and Yuki-San (116). Cornish Sister was topweighted at 121 pounds.

Others in the field were Pretty Note (117), Pick A Nurse (114), Nasomas Baby (117), Goddard Kate (112) and Hasty Reason (107).

Hempens Song has turned in three excellent efforts at Oaklawn. However, in her last outing she finished second to Apple Jackie.

In Wednesday's $12,500 feature, Pleasure Castle held off Royal Knight in the stretch to win the four-furlong event in 0:46 1-5.

Pleasure Castle returned $7.40, $4.60 and $4.40. Royal Knight paid $9.80 and $6.20 and Back To Jack returned $5.60 for show.

Orioles Get Their Bats Booming Again

By ALEX SACHARE
Associated Press Sports Writer
The Baltimore Orioles finally got their bats booming against the Pittsburgh Pirates—about five months too late.

The Orioles, held in check by Pirate hurlers Steve Blass, Bruce Kison and Nelson Briles in the 1971 World Series, erupted for 10 runs and 14 hits and whipped the Pirates 10-5 Wednesday in exhibition baseball.

In other games, Los Angeles beat Cincinnati 5-3, Philadelphia edged St. Louis 8-7, the New York Mets defeated the New York Yankees 3-0, Detroit shut out the New York Mets' B team 7-0, Montreal beat Atlanta 7-4 and Boston outscored Houston 11-7.

Also, the Chicago White Sox defeated Minnesota 7-5, Cleveland edged the Chicago Cubs 4-3, Milwaukee stopped San Francisco 7-3, Kansas City nipped Texas 4-3 and Oakland blanked California 6-0.

Nelson Briles, who hurled a two-hit shutout against the Orioles in the fifth game of the World Series, was the chief victim of the Baltimore outburst. He pitched five innings and was tagged for nine of the Baltimore runs.

Big Boog Powell, who managed only three hits—and no extra base hits—in the Series, slugged two home runs for the Orioles, and Don Buford added another. For Pittsburgh, Willie Stargell, the major league home run leader last season, slugged his first of the spring in the second inning off Mike Cuellar.

Frank Robinson, traded away by Cincinnati six years ago, drove in two runs with a homer and a double as the Dodgers defeated the Reds. Home runs by Don Money and Deron Johnson helped Philadelphia overcome a 7-2 deficit and defeat the Cards.

Jim McAndrew and Tug McGraw combined to shut the Yankees out on five hits, while Mickey Lolich gave up only one hit in five innings as the Tigers blanked the Mets B team.

Montreal rallied for three runs in the eighth inning to defeat Atlanta 7-4. Rookie Dwight Evans cracked four hits and Boston collected 15 hits off Astro pitchers in their free-scoring affair. Jorge Orta and Walt Williams drove in three runs apiece to lead the White Sox past Minnesota.

Porkers Drop Twin Bill
COLUMBIA, Mo. (AP) — The Arkansas Razorbacks dropped a baseball doubleheader to the University of Missouri 6-1 and 3-1 here Wednesday.

A four-run third inning in which the Tigers collected five hits, including two doubles, blew open the first game. Ted Wales, now 3-2, was the victim for Arkansas.

Larry Paulsen went the route for the Razorbacks in the second game and the loss evened his record at 2-2.

Missouri jumped into the lead in the second game by pushing across a run in the top of the first on two walks and two errors.

Arkansas, now 8-5 for the season, plays Oral Roberts at Tulsa, Okla., Saturday.

Travis Grant Named Best

NEW YORK (AP) — Just as easily as he pops in his jump shots Travis Grant of Kentucky State won the honor today of being named the college division basketball Player of the Year by The Associated Press.

The Machine, as the 6-foot-8 senior is nicknamed, won in a landslide in the voting by sportswriters and broadcasters. Such players as Frank Shade of EAU Claire, Jim Tedesco of Union, N.Y., Willie Stoudamire of Portland State, Hal Johnston of Roanoke and Dick Authier of South Dakota were far behind.

Being named player of the year followed Grant's selection to the 1972 Little All-American team which was announced Wednesday.

Grant led the Kentucky State Thorobreds to their third straight NAIA championship at Kansas City last week and was named the tourney's most valuable player for the second straight year.

He scored a record 213 points during the tourney and became the first player to cross the 4,000-point plateau in a four-year career.

Mileti Picks Up Indians

ST. PETERSBURG (AP) — Nick Mileti has added baseball's Cleveland Indians to his fast-growing fistful of sports franchises in the Ohio city.

American League owners approved Wednesday the sale of the Indians to a nine-man group headed by Mileti, who already operates the Cleveland Cavaliers of the National Basketball Association and Cleveland Barons of the American Hockey League.

Mileti purchased the club for almost $10 million.

Showdown Between Owners, Players

ST. PETERSBURG, Fla. (AP) — The stage was set today for a showdown between baseball's club owners and players over a possible strike before the season gets underway.

The owners, reacting to a series of near-unanimous strike votes by the players over their pension plan negotiations, came back with a show of force of their own Wednesday, voting not to add any money to their previous offer.

Gussie Busch, owner of the St. Louis Cardinals, articulated the tough position taken by the brass, saying: "We voted unanimously to take a stand. We're not going to give another cent. And if they want to strike," said Busch, "let them strike."

Bobcats Open Baseball Season With Ouachita

By BILL MOORE

Hope High School's 1972 Bobcat baseball team takes the field today at 3:30 p.m. for their season opener.

Working for about three weeks now, the Bobcats will host the Ouachita Warriors, a team from just outside of Arkadelphia. This is Ouachita's first year in baseball.

However, Coach Ken Allen said not to take the Warriors lightly and to be ready for a good ballgame.

Hope returns all but one starter from last year's squad, losing only three seniors. Last year the Bobcats recorded a 9-2 slate and expect to improve some, but the competition should be tougher this year, playing teams such as Little Rock

Catholic, Texarkana, Liberty-Eylau, Camden, and Magnolia. When the Cats take the field today the 1972 Bobcats seeing action will be: Jim Arrington, Ricky Brown, Phil Butler, Richard Butler, Ricky Clark, Mike Downs, Steve Harris, Wade Harris, Perry Henley, David Huddleston, Buddy Ingram, Bill Moore, Lynn Norton, Bubba Powers, Gary Rhodes, Bill Rowland, Tim White, Paul Young.

AUSTIN, Tex. (AP) — The Texas Longhorns are within one victory of tying a school baseball record established in 1946.

The defending Southwest Conference champion 'Horns boast a 22-1 record for the year.

Pupil Challenges the Teacher

By JACK STEVENSON
Associated Press Sports Writer
LOS ANGELES (AP) — Pupils challenge teachers everyday yet tonight comes a classic in confrontations as John Wooden, and his defending basketball champion UCLA Bruins face Denny Crum and the Louisville Cardinals.

Teacher Wooden must be favored as the undefeated Bruins continue their bid for a sixth straight national collegiate crown and their eighth in nine years.

North Carolina and Florida State meet in the other semifinal, slated to start at 9:10 p.m. EST.

Wooden and his crew face a club coached by a 34-year-old who played at UCLA and assisted the head man for three years when the Bruins won the NCAA crown each season.

Having won so many titles, Wooden was asked what another championship might mean to him, and answered:

"Pride. You want to do the best you can with the group you have. You start living in the past and you're done. You live in the future and you're done. What you do in the present will affect the future."

In Los Angeles, the North Carolina-Florida State meeting naturally takes second billing to UCLA and Louisville. However, the winner will be in the final, scheduled at the Los Angeles Sports Arena on Saturday at 5:10 p.m., EST, Saturday.

Florida State boasts height with sophomore Lawrence McCray at 6-foot 11 and Reggie Royals just an inch shorter.

North Carolina is shorter with Bob McAdoo at 6-9 handling the post position. However, the club has experience and Coach Dean Smith rates it favorably with the 1968 team that went to the NCAA final before losing to UCLA.

McAdoo averaged nearly 20 points per game during the regular season and was followed in the scoring category by senior forward Dennis Wuycik.

North Carolina takes a 25-4 record into the tournament with Florida State at 26-5. UCLA, the leader of The Associated Press poll throughout the season, has a 28-0 mark with Louisville at 26-3.

All four coaches were in agreement that no radical changes will be made either on offense or defense.

"It would be ridiculous to make major changes at this point," said Wooden.

John Anthony Joins Ala. Church Staff

The First Baptist Church of Montgomery, Alabama, announces the appointment of John Franklin Anthony to its staff as a ministerial intern serving as Assistant Pastor and Minister to Youth and Recreation, as of February 1, 1972.

John is a native of Hope, the son of Mrs. Graden Anthony and the late Mr. Anthony, a graduate of the University of Arkansas with his B. A. degree and the Southern Baptist Seminary with the Master of Divinity degree.

During his high school days he was president of the Junior and Senior classes and selected in the Top 16. At the University of Arkansas he was president of the Freshman dorm and president of the Student Religious Council. At the Southern Baptist Seminary he was student group leader for Dr. Finley Edge and professor's assistant for Dr. Gordon Clinard. During the summers of 1967-68 he was a Bible salesman for the Southwestern Company. He did substitute teaching in the Louisville schools.

He has served as associate pastor, Johnson Baptist Church, Johnson, Arkansas; interim pastor, Calvary Baptist Church, Huntsville, Arkansas; Sunday School Teacher and college counselor, University Baptist Church, Fayetteville, Arkansas; pastoral intern, Crescent Hill Baptist Church, Louisville, Kentucky.

Block Pastor and Minister to New Members, Walnut Street Baptist Church, Louisville, Kentucky. He participated in the Billy Graham School of Evangelism as a counselor in 1969-70, has led revivals, spoken at State evangelism conferences, with his wife, Connie, traveled widely in Europe the summer of 1969. Together they served as volunteer Summer Missionaries to Israel the summer of 1970. John will be working on a further degree while serving as intern and then returning to Southern Seminary to complete the academic requirements.

He is married to the former Connie June Goble, who is also a native of Arkansas, Mount Ida. She holds her B.S. degree in education from the University of Arkansas, plays the piano and organ, and has been an elementary school teacher in Louisville, Kentucky for the past three years. She is presently teaching the first grade in Montgomery.

John and Connie are both candidates for the foreign mission field of the Southern Baptist Convention. They hope to serve in Israel.

Nets Miss a Big Chance

by THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
The New York Nets missed a chance to take a giant step towards second place in the American Basketball Association's East Division race Wednesday night, but the Carolina Cougars managed to keep their faint playoff hopes alive.

The Cougars, 1 1/2 games behind the Floridians in the struggle for fourth place, erased a 20-point second half deficit and beat the Nets 117-113. The loss left New York 1 1/2 games back of second place Virginia, which was beaten by Indiana 129-118.

In other ABA games, Kentucky topped Pittsburgh 125-121 and Dallas defeated Denver 105-96.

Stew Johnson hit 10 straight points in the last 2:25 of the game to lift Carolina past the Nets. New York had led 84-64 late in the third quarter.

New York's Rick Barry led all scorers with 32 points and Bill Paultz added 24. Carolina's Larry Miller, who set an ABA record with 67 points in a game Saturday night, managed to score 15.

Indiana jumped off to a 15-point first quarter lead and went on to defeat Virginia, despite a 38-point outburst by the Squires' Julius Erving. George McGinnis led Indiana with 33 points.

So Virginia, 43-36, retained its 1 1/2-game margin over New York, 42-38, in the second place race, while Carolina, 33-48, moved within 1 1/2 games of the Floridians, 33-45, in the battle for fourth.

All old and new members are urged to be present.

Holy Land Palm and Holy Land Slides at Bethel Sunday

Sunday is Palm Sunday, and at Bethel A.M.E. Church it will be real Palm as was in the time of Christ. Palm of the original type as that strewn before Jesus Christ almost 2,000 years ago will be ceremonially used in the 10:50 a.m. worship service.

According to Bethel's pastor, Dr. W.G. Wynn, the palm is imported from Palestine to Florida and grown there for such Palm Sunday celebration worship services. Twelve very young girls will serve as palm angels and will pantomime the lyrics of the Lord's Prayer by the melody of Albert Malotte. Mrs. Esther Hicks, church organist, will accompany the angels. Palm crosses and branches will be distributed to each person in worship attendance Sunday morning at Bethel and will be directed to preserve the palm in their homes as a peace blessing symbol until Ash Wednesday of 1973, at which time this palm will be uniformly burned sacrificially to initiate the successive Lenten Season and the annual cycle ends to begin anew. The Youth Department will be in charge of Sunday's services and the pastor will preach on the subject, "King of Kings."

On Sunday night, the special events' committee, chaired by Mrs. Willie Mae Ross, will present the Rev. Harold Hightower, pastor of the Tyler Street Baptist Church in Little Rock to show slides of the Holy Land taken in a recent trip to Palestine by the Baptist Clergyman.

This event is scheduled to convene at 7:15. The public is cordially invited to attend both services, according to the Stewards of Bethel.

Asks Delay in Milk Suit

SAN ANTONIO, Tex. (AP) — A court hearing was tentatively scheduled today on a request for a delay of legal action in an antitrust suit filed against one of the nation's largest milk co-operatives.

The Associated Milk Producers Inc. (AMPI) filed the request in federal court here Wednesday, asking that a pre-trial conference be held either next Monday or Tuesday.

The Justice Department filed a civil suit last month against AMPI, which has about 40,000 dairy farmer members in the Midwest, accusing it of monopolizing the sale of milk in 14 states.

The San Antonio based group asked that the litigation be declared a "complex case" under federal guidelines covering "complex and multidistrict litigation."

It also asked the court to stay all pre-trial disclosure proceedings until the pre-trial conference is held and the court approves a schedule for further legal action.

AMPI, which has publicly denied the Justice Department's claims, cited several reasons why the court should declare the matter a "complex case," including the fact that the Justice Department has filed notice of plans to take 14 depositions this month from milk producers throughout the nation.

Documents requested in the deposition proceedings "will be not only voluminous but the taking of these depositions will range from one end of this country to the other," AMPI said.

It also questioned whether the court has jurisdiction in the case.

The standard deduction is up this year.

But, maybe you should itemize.

If there's some way to save you money on your income tax, H&R Block will know how to do it.

Itemized and standard deductions are nothing new. We've been preparing returns for years using both. We'll figure out your situation both ways and then prepare your return using the method best for you.

You see, for only a few dollars more than it costs to do it yourself (with advice maybe from some other amateur), you can have your tax return prepared with complete confidentiality by a specially trained member of the H&R Block team.

H&R Block's fees start at $5 and the average cost was under $12.50 for over 7 million families we served last year.

Co-op Members File Complaint

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — Twenty-seven member of the North Arkansas Electric Cooperative filed a complaint Tuesday with the state Public Service Commission that accuses the cooperative of discriminatory practices.

All of the members are in the Salem-Mountain Home and Evening Shade areas.

The 25 items in the complaint were primarily attacks on management procedures of the cooperative and it seeks to have a special election called for the cooperative board of directors.

In asking for relief, the 27 members said they wanted "to have such discrimination and mismanagement verified and documented by the ... Public Service Commission so as to build a firm foundation for popular credibility and support for a successful recall action to elect a new board of directors."

Among the charges were that the company used promotional activities that resulted in substantial expenses that were not justified.

The complaint also said that while some members had lines run to their homes or businesses without deposits, others, including Myers Laboratories at Mountain Home, were required to place a deposit of up to $1,000 before their electrical systems were hooked up.

Advisers to Enter Humphrey 18th Century Pub

By ROBERT L. CAMPBELL
Associated Press Writer

Advisers to Sen. Hubert H. Humphrey say they will enter Humphrey's name in the Indiana May 2 primary today, upping the number of Democratic contenders in that contest to three.

Donald T. Kerns, legislative representative of the United Steelworkers and a Humphrey supporter, said Wednesday in Indianapolis Humphrey's name would be entered in the contest "unless he calls us and tells us not to enter his name."

The deadline for filing for the contest is noon today.

A statement released by Humphrey campaign headquarters in Washington confirmed the Minnesota senator's entry into the Indiana race.

The statement said Humphrey aides filed with state officials before the noon deadline and would announce his entry at a news conference in Indianapolis. The senator was reported campaigning in Nebraska.

Alabama Gov. George C. Wallace and the victor of Tuesday's Illinois primary, Sen. Edmund Muskie of Maine, filed Wednesday for the Indiana race.

It was not known, however, if another Democratic presidential aspirant, Sen. Vance Hartke of Indiana, would enter his home-state race.

In other political developments:

MCGOVERN: Spokesmen for Sen. George S. McGovern of South Dakota said speaking commitments will prevent McGovern from accepting a debating challenge from New York Mayor John V. Lindsay. Lindsay spokesmen had said earlier McGovern agreed to debate Friday at the University of Wisconsin before Tuesday's primary in that state. McGovern said he was willing to negotiate another date, but could not make it to the school at Madison for a student-sponsored forum.

MCCARTHY: Eugene McCarthy, former Minnesota senator, said he would issue a major statement Monday in Madison on his plans for the Wisconsin primary.

WALLACE: The Alabama governor, at a news conference in Indianapolis, he has "an excellent chance of winning" the Indiana race.

YORTY: Los Angeles Mayor Sam Yorty, another Democratic contender, said in Los Angeles he is still a serious candidate despite the fact he will not be campaigning in any state other than California. He said the duties of the mayor's office prevented him from further campaigning.

ATLANTA, Ga. (AP) — Eighteenth century London had its White Hart pub, where Dr. Samuel Johnson, Sir Joshua Reynolds, Alexander Pope and other neoclassics gathered for learned discourse and a draught of ale.

Modern-day Atlanta has the Stein Club—the only bar in the world, as far as its habitude can determine, that holds an annual spelling bee.

On a Friday night, it packs in more academic degrees per square inch than you could measure with a slide rule.

Hence the spelling bee, forcing Stein Club regulars who dispute and debate year round over draft beer to put up or sit down each January.

The Second Annual Stein Club Orthographic Open was held in the back room of the bar. This reporter went to kibitz and stayed to conquer—beating an economic geographer, an engineer with a masters degree in Middle English literature, an architect, last year's winner—the state Public Service Commission reporter—and 15 other contestants—by correctly spelling "phthisic," "gyve," "pyrrhic" and "jodhpur."

This display of orthographic pre-eminence earned me the No. 2 engraving on the Annual Orthographic Open plaque that hangs over the Stein Club bar, a case of beer, a hand-struck silver medal and a certificate.

Wearing my seventh-grade spelling medal from Bad Breznach, Germany, for confidence, I made my way through the obscure hubbub in the main room to the back and took my place among the 200 spelling enthusiasts.

As the zero hour of 8:15 approached, someone passed out sheets of yellow foolscap. Sergeant at arms Wilson Paige called for order.

Twenty beer glasses hit the table, twenty ballpoint pens poised over yellow foolscap, and the race was on.

The end of Round 1 spelled heartache and intellectual humiliation for 12 contenders. Round 2 eliminated four and Round 3, two more.

I was still in.

My tablemates, hors de combat, rallied round, bending to peer as I wrote "thysic," and again as I scratched it out and substituted "phthisic."

"Gnathion"—which, pronouncer Paul Niblock explained, denotes "the lower midportion of the human mandible"—stumped me. But it stumped my last remaining opponent, Martha van Dusenbergh, too.

The final score was 48 to 45 of a possible 50 words. I bungled "balalaika" in Round 2.

Mutt Gets Tax Hearing Delayed

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — A government document filed in U.S. District Court here Wednesday showed that a 1968 inquiry into state Sen. Guy H. Jones' income tax situation was postponed at Jones' request.

The document said Jones told Internal Revenue Service officials that an investigation would interfere with his re-election campaign. Jones did win re-election.

Jones, a Conway lawyer, was indicted Feb. 10 by a federal grand jury on charges of income tax evasion and filing false income tax returns. He has pleaded innocent.

Information about postponement was contained in the government's response to a motion by Jones that evidence gathered by IRS Special Agent James A. Brown be suppressed by the court.

Leon B. Callett, Jones' attorney, contended that when Brown met Jones on Dec. 9, 1968 he failed to advise Jones of his constitutional rights and that Jones was not advised that a criminal investigation was in progress.

The government's answer contended that Jones was advised of his rights and informed that the IRS was investigating possible criminal violations of federal tax laws.

"Further evidence that the defendant (Jones) understood the criminal nature of the investigation by Mr. Brown is that shortly after Mr. Brown's initial visit (in July 1968), the defendant appeared at the district director's office in Little Rock and met with the (then) district director, Mr. Fred Johnson, and also the chief of intelligence section, Mr. Russell James," the IRS document said.

"At this meeting, the defendant discussed the criminal investigation which Mr. Brown had previously informed him of, and how it would affect and interfere with his race for re-election to the Arkansas Senate," it said. "The defendant requested that the commencement of the investigation be postponed until after the election, which request was agreed to by Mr. Johnson and

Mr. James. James said Wednesday that the IRS frequently delayed its investigations "for the taxpayer's convenience," if the request was a reasonable one. James said Wednesday that the IRS frequently delayed its investigations "for the taxpayer's convenience," if the request was a reasonable one. Emmett E. Cook, who succeeded Johnson in January as IRS district director, said investigations into the tax matters of political candidates usually are postponed until after the election if the candidate asks for it, "because we don't want anyone hollering that we're politically prejudiced."

Student Body President

JONESBORO, Ark. (AP) — Robert Bahn of Blytheville was elected president Wednesday of the student body at Arkansas State University.

He campaigned on a platform that included campus birth control programs, sex-counseling services and unrestricted dormitory hours for women.

Bahn is a junior journalism student. He received 643 votes to Leon Holmes of Haze, who was second with 452 votes.

Business as Usual for Pay Board

By BROOKS JACKSON
Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Pay Board remained in business today, determined to continue in one form or another despite the walkout of three labor members.

"I think it very likely that the Pay Board will go on, but how and in what manner remains to be seen," Chairman George H. Boldt said. "There's more than one way to skin a cat."

The board planned tentatively to continue work today on proposals to drop wage controls from small firms and to give some further relief to low-wage-earners.

The absence of three labor votes decreased the likelihood that any such proposals would be adopted. In any event they would require approval of the Cost of Living Council.

Meanwhile, the White House faced a decision on whether to allow the board to continue in its suddenly lopsided condition, or to reshape it in some way.

A number of options appear open. Balance could be restored by adding three more union or nonunion representatives of labor or by paring away three public and three business members.

Also, the board could be reconstituted entirely of public members, as is the Price Commission. Before Wednesday's resignations, the board comprised five members, each from labor, business and the public.

Another alternative would be to do nothing. With three labor votes gone, the board's decisions could become more conservative and the administration could point to the absent union chiefs as the reason.

"If I were the President," one nonunion board member said, "I'd wait until the dust settles before doing anything."

After today's meeting, the board plans a two-week Easter recess. Although it was scheduled long before AFL-CIO President George Meany and two AFL-CIO colleagues resigned Wednesday, the break will serve to give the administration some breathing space.

White House Press Secretary Ronald L. Ziegler said the board will not be disbanded, but also didn't comment on what its future form might be.

Meanwhile the board should have little trouble functioning. All its rules and guidelines remain in place. Although its ranks have been reduced to 12, its own rules require only 10 members for a quorum and eight votes to pass a motion.

The five public members of the board denied Meany's charges that the board has been unfair to labor.

They said 28 of the board's 54 formal votes had been unanimous. The union members had been in the majority of 36 votes, they said, and had voted in the majority on five of eight major wage cases decided by the full board.

Archibald Tries Harder

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

The National Basketball Association's two leading scorers represent opposite ends of the spectrum.

The leader, Kareem Abdul Jabbar of the Milwaukee Bucks with a 34.9 points per game average, is listed as 7-foot-2 but believed by many to be taller. He has always been an acknowledged superstar, a dominant force, who gives the impression he can score virtually at will.

Then there is the No. 2 man, Nate Archibald of Cincinnati.

Like that other No. 2, Archibald has to try harder. For one thing, although he's listed as 6-feet tall, Archibald is believed by many to actually be shorter than that figure.

Little Nate poured in 46 points Wednesday night to lead the Cincinnati Royals to a 135-130 victory over the Detroit Pistons. It was the 12th time in his last 13 games that the New York native, who played his college ball at Texas-El Paso, has hit for 30 points or more.

More than capable, as his 27.6 scoring and 9.1 assist averages will attest.

In other NBA games, Cleveland upset Los Angeles 124-120, Golden State beat Baltimore 121-101, Atlanta edged Houston 107-106, the New York Knicks pounded Buffalo 123-99 and Boston beat Philadelphia 113-106.

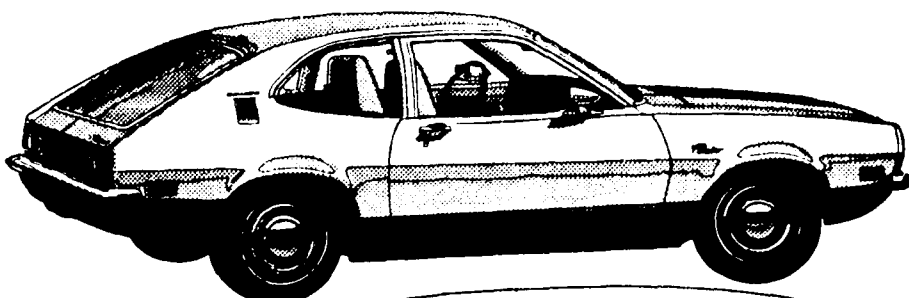

Rick Roberson, a former Laker, scored a career-high 29 points, including 12 in the final quarter, to spark Cleveland. Jerry West and Gail Goodrich had 31 points apiece for Los Angeles and John Johnson added 28 for the Cavaliers.

The Lakers, now 67-13 on the season, failed in their bid to tie the league record for most victories in a season, 68 recorded by the Philadelphia 76ers in 1966-67. Los Angeles still has two regular season games remaining, however.

Committee Approval Raises Hopes of City-State Aid

EDMOND LE BRETON
Associated Press Writer
WASHINGTON (AP) — A committee of governors and mayors of the federal government threw them a fiscal life-line by approving a $1.8 billion state-city aid bill. The measure acted on Tuesday is a modified version of one Chairman Wilbur D. Nichols, D-Ark., offered as a substitute for President Nixon's plan to share federal revenues between state and local governments. Initially limited to five years, beginning this year, it would distribute $1.8 billion annually to states and $3.5 billion to cities and other local units. The legislation holds out the possibility of merging the collection of federal and state income taxes, saving the states administrative costs and taxpayers most of the trouble of preparing two returns. The committee will take another look at the measure in legislative form April 11. Final committee approval then would make a House vote likely late next month. Mills, who at one stage said he would hold the hearings on Nixon's proposal only to kill it, contends his substitute is substantially different. It is weighted in favor of the cities, low-income areas and states that make extensive use of their own income taxes. The administration indicated it will embrace the measure as a vindication of its revenue-sharing initiative. Complex formulas would govern the division of funds. States would share on the basis of their revenue-raising efforts, with heavy emphasis on income tax. But all states would be guaranteed some money. The distribution to cities and other local units would be based on population, urban concentration, per-capita income and—to a minor degree—revenue raising. The "piggyback" tax-collection system would be optional for states and would not go into effect unless at least five states accounting for at least five percent of federal income tax-payers joined up. Participating states would have to conform their income tax systems generally to the federal pattern, although some variations would be allowed. The taxpayer then would fill out a simple supplement to his federal return. The federal government would handle withholding and remit to the states their share.

Wintry weather returned to parts of the nation today as a storm system hanging over the Northeast brought high winds and snow into the Great Lakes, the Ohio Valley and southern New England. One inch of snow whitened such widely separated locations as Sault Ste. Marie, Mich.; Beckley, W. Va., and Binghamton, N.Y. Winds up to 30 miles per hour gusted through parts of Michigan. Rain accompanied the storm in parts of New England, Rumford, Maine, measured more than an inch. Scattered rain also fell in the Northwest, and a few thunderstorms rumbled through Western Texas and Southern New Mexico. Fair and dry weather prevailed in the rest of the nation. Temperatures before dawn ran from 77 at Phoenix, Ariz., to 12 at Hancock, Mich. Some other reports: Anchorage 29 partly cloudy, Atlanta 50 clear, Boston 47 cloudy, Buffalo 30 snow, Chicago 25 snow, Cincinnati 29 partly cloudy, Cleveland 28 snow, Dallas 6 clear, Denver 52 clear, Detroit 28 snow, Honolulu 74 partly cloudy, Indianapolis 27 snow, Kansas City 36 clear, Los Angeles 56 clear, Louisville 38 cloudy, Miami 66 clear, Minneapolis-St. Paul 26 clear, Nashville 48 clear, New York 41 partly cloudy, Philadelphia 42 cloudy, Pittsburgh 30 snow, St. Louis 35 clear, San Francisco 50 clear, Seattle 41 cloudy, Washington 44 cloudy.

Peace Proposals for Ireland

Details of the plan were a closely guarded secret. Heath has already promised the province's one million Protestants that their six counties will remain British as long as they want them to. But he also must try to persuade the 500,000 Catholics that they will receive equal treatment and a genuine share in promised prosperity. There was no indication when the proposals would be published or how much longer Protestant objections might delay them. A communique issued in London Wednesday night said Heath and Faulkner "will be in touch again following meetings of their cabinets." The would-be peacemakers face two major obstacles: Ulster's Protestants say they'll fight any dilution of their power, and the guerrillas of the Irish Republican Army say they will not accept anything short of union with the Catholic Irish Republic. While the political leaders met Wednesday, Belfast's sixth major bombing in three days ripped apart a main railroad station, damaged the capital's biggest hotel and sent 70 people to the hospital with cuts. In Londonderry early today army bomb disposal experts dismantled a time bomb packed with 70 pounds of gelignite planted outside a supermarket. Four British soldiers were wounded—none seriously—by snipers during the night.

Judge Always Against Forced School Busing

By REX THOMAS
Associated Press Writer
MONTGOMERY, Ala. (AP) — A federal judge who says he has handled more desegregation cases than any other judge in the nation claims he is ruling against school busing long before it became a political issue. "I have always thought and acted in several cases that busing for the purpose of achieving racial balance is not authorized by the 14th Amendment," U.S. District Court Judge Frank M. Johnson Jr. said in an interview Wednesday. The U.S. Supreme Court has said that busing is permissible. Johnson said that schools under his jurisdiction have abolished their dual systems without massive busing and are operating effectively in a manner to provide quality education. In February 1970, Johnson first ruled massive busing was unnecessary. In an order for speeded-up desegregation in Montgomery County, he rejected a contention that a racial balance or student ratios or both are necessary. He said the same thing later in other rulings. "Complete disestablishment of the dual school system to the extent that it is based on race is required in the Montgomery case," he wrote, adding: "While pairing of schools may sometimes be required to disestablish a dual system, the pairing of schools or the busing of students to achieve a racial balance, or to achieve a certain ratio of black and white students in a school, is not required by the law." "I haven't yet found it necessary to order wholesale busing," the 53-year-old jurist observed. "To the extent possible, we have followed the neighborhood concept." Under the neighborhood concept, children are assigned to the school nearest their homes. To get around residential patterns which might preserve segregation, the courts have ordered many schools closed and the pupils transferred to schools with children of other races. His decisions, the judge said, "didn't have anything to do with politics. They were made long before using got to be a political issue."

Campaign Plans Change

By CARL P. LEUBSDORF
AP Political Writer
WASHINGTON (AP) — Two years ago, Denver lawyer, Gary Hart and Sen. George McGovern laid out the basic strategy for the senator's presidential bid: Build from the grass roots up, and aim for the New Hampshire and Wisconsin primaries. The prospects and plans of his presidential rivals have changed considerably since then. McGovern's battle plan remains exactly the same. And the second big test is coming 12 days from now in the April 4 Wisconsin primary. The South Dakota Democrat's organization passed the first test, in New Hampshire with a 37.1-per-cent showing that exceeded the fondest hopes of his backers, and the five victorious McGovern delegates were five more than the organization had expected.

Many backers of Sen. Edmund S. Muskie considered the McGovern organization superior to their own. In Wisconsin, too, McGovern is said to have the best organization. Hart, a 35-year-old Yale Law School graduate who has spent two years working to elect McGovern president, appreciates the plaudits for his labors but says he hasn't done anything special. In the spring of 1970, Hart said, McGovern's strategy began to develop with these basic tenets: —The nomination would be decided in the primaries. —Other candidates would get the high-level endorsement from party leaders and elected officials. —Financing would be limited, precluding the establishment of a large, highly paid campaign bureaucracy in Washington. —The way to make up for this was with a strong, grassroots organization. Thus, while other candidates sent outsiders into various states and regions to set up campaigns, McGovern people picked local managers and built around them—down to the precinct level. Except for New Hampshire and Wisconsin, the state units had to be financially self-supporting. While strong primary showings are important for every candidate, McGovern needed one early in the political season to overcome a low standing in public-opinion polls. In New Hampshire, where he and Muskie were the only major contenders, McGovern received several times his 5-per-cent poll rating. Their goals in Wisconsin are two-fold: —To run substantially ahead of New York Mayor John V. Lindsay and establish McGovern as the unquestioned champion of the party's liberal wing. —To finish as close as possible to the top, certainly within the top three.

Amateurs to Get Chance

DALLAS (AP) — Near scratch amateur golfers have a chance to play with the big boys in the Byron Nelson Golf Classic if they qualify April 4 at the Dallas Athletic Club Country Club Course. The qualifying round is open to any amateur with a certified handicap of two or less under PGA rules. "Every good amateur golfer would like to play in a PGA tour event and this provides the opportunity," said Frank Anglin Jr., chairman of qualifying. "We feel that a qualifying round purely for amateurs increases the golf interest of amateurs throughout Texas and other parts of the country as well." The Nelson Classic will be held at Preston Trail Golf Club April 24-30.

Three States Invited to Join Ozarks Group

LITTLE ROCK (AP)—The states of Louisiana, Mississippi and Tennessee were invited Wednesday to join in an expanded Ozarks Regional Commission.

The commission presently is composed of portions of Arkansas, Missouri, Kansas and Oklahoma, but there were hopes that each of the states could be included in its entirety the other states are added.

The proposed expansion was discussed at a meeting here among representatives of Mississippi and Tennessee, Gov. Dale Bumpers of Arkansas, Warren Hearnes of Missouri and David Hall of Oklahoma and a representative of Gov. Robert Docking of Kansas.

Bumpers said neither Mississippi nor Tennessee had indicated whether it would join, but he said Gov.-elect Edwin Edwards of Louisiana favored his state's inclusion.

Bumpers said the next step would be to petition the Commerce Department to include the states if any accept the invitation.

The seven-state commission was suggested last month at the National Governors Conference by Vice President Spiro T. Agnew.

Bumpers said the vice president's suggestion apparently reflected a switch by the Nixon administration to a position in favor of regional commissions, which were established to initiate and coordinate long-range economic development programs that are funded through the Commerce Department.

There are five such commissions and Bumpers said the administration apparently believed they could be mechanisms by which federal bloc grants could be funneled to the states if President Nixon's revenue-sharing plan fails.

Bumpers said even if there is no addition of states, he would ask the Commerce Department to place all of Arkansas in the commission. Forty-four of the state's 75 counties are now included.

The governor said Hearnes already had made the request for Missouri and that he expected Hall and Docking to ask the same.

The commission Wednesday approved funds for five projects in Arkansas, two in Kansas, three in Missouri and 11 in Oklahoma.

For Arkansas, the commission approved $300,000 to help finance development of the DeGray state park near Arkadelphia, $102,300 for an extension of the runway at the Mena airport so it can accommodate jets, $60,000 to establish a pilot irrigation project for fruit and vegetable farming in the Ozark Mountain plateau region of Beaver Lake in Northwest Arkansas, $80,000 to finance mobile vocational technical training facilities that would be shared by the Paris, Charleston, Prairie Grove and West Fork school districts and $50,700 to help pay for a water system serving 115 rural customers in the Spadra Goose Camp area of Johnson County.

The commission approved $104,607 for a water and sewer project in Chetopa, Kan., and $30,000 for a marketing identification and development program of the state of Kansas.

For Missouri, the commission voted $46,835 for the Monett vocational technical school, $9,562 for Missouri Southern College and $195,250 for improvements to the industrial park at Rolla.

For Oklahoma, the commission approved water project fund of $48,000 at Henryetta, $40,000 at Tahlequah, $150,000 in Pauls Valley and $45,000 in West Davis. It voted $15,000 for the Haulton, Okla., airport and $45,000 to the Pryor airport.

It also approved $45,000 to furnish technical and professional help in developing small fruit farm and orchard projects for low-income families.

Other Oklahoma requests approved included $65,000 for development of the airport at Arrowhead State Park, $33,132 for the Okemah hospital, $15,069 to help finance health facilities for the Johnson County Health Department and $20,000 for an access road at Okmulgee.

Best Show in Dacca Starts at Sundown

By ARNOLD ZEITLIN
Associated Press Writer

DACCA (AP) — The best show in Dacca starts at sundown at the prime minister's house when the people come to meet Sheikh Mujibur Rahman.

"This is impossible," roared Mujib one hectic evening. "How do they expect me to get my work done?" He was lecturing adoring adherents who had jammed the corridor in front of his office in the two-story villa.

The supporters wandered happily off, having seen their leader but another mooring batch soon replaced them.

Outside the walls of the house, a half dozen antique buses rolled in from the countryside carrying several hundred members of a workers organization, waving banners and placards. They wanted jobs.

Inside the house, in a room cheerfully brightened by yellow print upholstery, Mujib returned to his work and did not look up for the appearance of a foreign journalist he had summoned for what the newsmen thought was to be an interview.

Suddenly, the door to the room was flung open, the drapes across the door flapped and in rushed six weeping and wailing men who had fought for the liberation of Bangladesh.

One man held up an arm in a cast and swathed with gauze. He swept across the room and hurled himself at the sheik's feet. A second revealed an artificial leg. A third pulled at his shirt and showed his scars. The others climbed over a journalist and an ambassador in their eagerness to get to the sheik.

The sheik patted their heads, murmured his gratitude and sent them, still wailing, on their way. They had come to thank him for financing their treatment.

They left noisily and a portly Foreign Office protocol officer wheeled in what looked like a casket covered with velvet. It contained a 4-foot elephant tusk from the Chittagong hill tracts.

"For Mrs. Gandhi," said the protocol man. The visit of the Indian prime minister was imminent and the gift required the sheik's approval. The prime minister puffed at his pipe, gazed at the gift and waved it off.

Then he awarded a loyal journalist with the editorship of a government-owned newspaper, only to give the same job a day later to another editor who came to him with a lengthy story of woe. When the first man complained, the sheik explained the second man had suffered much and deserved the job.

"How would you like to be director of television?" asked the sheik. "I don't know anything about television," said the deposed editor. "Makes no difference," said Mujib, and another job was filled.

Television and Radio

NEW YORK (AP) — "Harvey," still a convivial 6-foot-4½ white rabbit after 28 years, came to television Wednesday night as an NBC "Hall of Fame" Easter treat.

Mary Chase's play, which won a Pulitzer Prize as a Broadway production, was adapted, intact in spirit, to the special demands of broadcasting. James Stewart and Helen Hayes returned to the parts they played in a stage revival a couple of years ago.

It is a gentle comedy including a couple of delightfully vague and daft characters. Stewart's Elwood P. Dowd is a kind, genial man who enjoys, perhaps a bit too much, the friendship of other drinkers at his favorite bars. But his best friend is Harvey, the rabbit who is invisible to most people.

Miss Hayes, as Elwood's sister, Veta Louise, was distraught from outset to finish. First it was Elwood and his peculiar behavior that upset her—partly because she, too, occasionally glimpsed Harvey out of the corner of her eye.

It was decided that Elwood needed psychiatric treatment for his hallucination. The result was a series of misunderstandings during which the presumably sane people—the psychiatrists, the lawyer and Veta Louise's spinster daughter—became fierce and frantic.

Offered a chance to receive treatment that would turn him into "a perfectly normal human being" and make Harvey disappear forever, Elwood and his sister agreed they preferred to remain the way they were.

The play was acted by a fine cast. Elwood is a character tailored for Stewart's hesitant acting style. Miss Hayes has no peer at playing flighty fuss-budgits. John McGiver may have leaned a bit heavily into his role as a psychiatrist—but Miss Chase was having fun with the branch of medicine. Marian Hailey was excellent as the drab daughter. Arlene Francis appeared in a minor role as the doctor's wife and Martin Gabel was the family lawyer.

If "Harvey" shows its age a bit, it is in its sweetness of spirit and innocence—no fights and no swear words.

It was a delightful 90 minutes.

The three major networks, already weeks late in announcing their fall schedules, are expected to postpone their announcements until the conclusion of the current Senate subcommittee hearings on television violence, expected at the end of this week.

It is believed on Madison Avenue that some established and new action series might be moved at the last minute from early evening positions, when many children are in the audience, to later time periods.
